

BRAND STYLE GUIDE

Roots & Whimsy

Artisanal Food & Beverage

A visual and verbal identity for brands that feel rooted in the earth — and lit up with a little magic.

INSIDE THIS GUIDE

- Color Palette
- Typography
- Voice & Tone
- Writing Dos & Don'ts
- Sample Copy

COLOR PALETTE

Bark Brown
#6B4226
Primary / headings

Harvest Clay
#C46A2B
CTAs / accents

Wildflower Honey
#E8B860
Highlights / tags

Meadow Sage
#7B9E6B
Secondary accents

Cream Parchment
#FFF7EC
Backgrounds / cards

Oat Linen
#D9C9A8
Borders / dividers

Jam Berry
#C75C6E
Playful pop / badges

TYPOGRAPHY

Playfair Display – Display / Headlines

Small-batch, big heart.

Nunito – Body / UI / Labels

Every jar tells a story.

Nunito – Small / Tags

Made slowly, with care and a little curiosity. Our recipes come from grandmothers, farmers markets, and happy accidents — never from a factory floor.

SMALL BATCH | NEW ARRIVAL | SEASONAL | FAN FAVORITE

VOICE & TONE

WARM

Write like you're inviting someone to your kitchen table. Familiar, generous, never stiff.

Pull up a chair — there's always enough to share.

GROUNDED

Honest about ingredients and process. No puffery — just good things made the right way.

Six ingredients. No shortcuts. That's all.

PLAYFUL

A little mischievous. Lean into puns and wordplay — but keep it tasteful (literally).

Warning: dangerously spreadable.

STORY-DRIVEN

Every product has an origin. Pull the thread — who made it and why?

Started as a rainy Sunday experiment. Became our bestseller.

WRITING DOS & DON'TS

DO ✓ Use sensory words (golden, earthy, zesty, velvety) ✓ Name your ingredients and their sources ✓ Speak in second person: "you'll taste..." ✓ Keep CTAs short and punchy ✓ Celebrate imperfection and handmade-ness	DON'T ✗ Use corporate-speak ("leverage," "optimize") ✗ Over-claim: "the best jam in the world" ✗ Write long, dense product descriptions ✗ Use passive voice — keep energy active ✗ Forget to mention the human behind the jar
---	---

SAMPLE COPY

HERO SECTION Made with muddy hands and a whole lot of love. We're a small crew of food obsessives who believe the best things come in small batches. No mass production. No mystery ingredients. Just real food, made slowly, by people who care. Shop the harvest
PRODUCT DESCRIPTION Wildflower Honey — Dark & Woody Foraged from hives tucked into old-growth forest in rural Vermont. This one tastes like autumn feels — deep, a little smoky, with a finish that lingers. Drizzle it on cheese, stir it into tea, or eat it straight from the spoon. No judgment. Add to your pantry
EMAIL SUBJECT LINE Your autumn haul is ready. (We saved you a jar.) Preview text: This batch won't last — it never does.

SOCIAL CAPTION

Some things are worth the wait.

This year's elderflower cordial is finally here — and honestly? It was worth every slow, patient afternoon we spent on it. Link in bio before it's gone. #smallbatch #artisanfood #madefromscratch